

This song is from the Musical "The Promise," a musical performed at New Life Tabernacle in 1983, written by myself, and two wonderful friends, Becky Lawrence and Geri Crots. It traced, in song, the Messianic prophecies through the Bible - culminating in the birth of Christ. This song was originally called "David Hillside Solo." It was used to help scenes flow from the anointing of David by Samuel, to his assuming leadership of Israel as an adult. I wrote it specifically for a young man named Derrick Douge. I saw the hand of God on his life and wanted so very much for him to take part in this musical as a young David - which he did. Afterwards, he was taken tragically at this young age and this song is lovingly dedicated to his memory.

Whenever I've gone through a rough place in my life, or had difficult decisions to make or responsibilities to take on -- I've returned to this song of surrender and recalled God's faithfulness of the past and put my self in His hands again.

Do What You Will With Me

© 1983 Lora L. Crombez

G                    D
 Lord you are my shepherd,
G                    D
 And of your goodness I sing,
G                    D
 But my heart is among the ewes with young,
G                    D
 Shall I be a king?

F                    C
 I have always kept my father's sheep
F                    C
 I've slain a lion and a bear
A<sup>b</sup>                    C
 But your great people Israel,
                         B<sup>b</sup>                    A
 would you trust them to my care?

G                    D
 Oh Lord you are my shepherd.
G                    D
 You're the source of all I need.
G                    D
 If from a pasture to a palace
G                    D
 I know that you will be with me

